

CONCEPTS

- Pun train is a literal train that fuels on the conductor making puns
- At a tea party you can only order things that start with the letter T
- There's this world where it's full of baked cheese potatoes that don't have enough salt. So every year it imports immigrants who are bitter and salty af to make it salty. However, the bland people of the region don't like change and want it to stay bland. So they're planning on building a wall made of mouths called s-wall-ows that eat things that try to enter.
- Garfield kart World is a world full of fields that have the face of Garfield painted on them
- Grade 12s in schools are full of elderly people because of seniors. Kayden is one of them.