

	URL (before clicking link)
Web page	Secure (https)	Sus URL? <20 at least
http://zapatopi.net/a	50[$^0]	Using random words like "Zapatopi", using bizarre abbreviations like "afdb"	61[$^0]
https://www.allaboutufos.com	0[$^0]	Clearly explains what the site is about, but seems a little sketchy	13[$^0]
http://www.thedogis.com	50[$^0]	Clearly explains what it is about, not that suspicious.	5[$^0]
http://www.ufos-alien.com	50[$^0]	Using unprofessional and undefined words like "aliens" or "ufos" may hint that it is not	80[$^0]
http://descy.50megs.com	50[$^0]	"Desky.50megs" sounds a bit random	64[$^0]
http://www.mjt.org/	50[$^0]	definition of "mjt" is unknown, but ".org" hints that it is probably a legitimate site	5[$^0]
http://www.ovaprimalife.com	50[$^0]	definition of "ovaprimalife" is unknown, but ".com" hints that it is probably a legitimate site	5[$^0]
http://www.petroldir.com	50[$^0]	Clearly explains what it is about, not that suspicious.	5[$^0]
http://zapatopi.net/treeoctopus	50[$^0]	"Tree octopus" is fake for sure, and it is also from zapatopi.net, which is the same website	80[$^0]
https://www.thetruth.com	0[$^0]	A website called "the truth" is probably trying to get people to believe in it, which is a bit	42[$^0]
http://www.dhmo.org	50[$^0]	definition of "ovaprimalife" is unknown, but ".org" hints that it is probably a legitimate site	5[$^0]
https://www.ligerworks.com	0[$^0]	Clearly explains what it is about, not that suspicious.	5[$^0]
https://www.scientificamerican.com	0[$^0]	News website, not that suspicious.	10[$^0]
https://nationalpost.com	0[$^0]	News website, not that suspicious.	10[$^0]

Click on a cell to see full text in the formula bar. If the text goes past the formula bar, click on the cell again to make it larger.

Reliable (and unreliable) sources

Author/Sources	Date
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] No date 50[$ ⁰]
Source websites have accurate information.	23[$ ⁰] Only some explorers have dates, and most pages are outdated 32[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] Shows today's date each day, might just be set to update to 20[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] Last updated 2009, Link to new site does not work 40[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] Site was updated "January 1 and June 3rd of this year" It is not 60[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] 1996-2008 35[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] No date 50[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] No date 50[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] No date 50[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] No date 50[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] No date 50[$ ⁰]
No author, No sources	50[$ ⁰] 2014 15[$ ⁰]
Lydia Denworth is an award-winning science writer	5[$ ⁰] June 18, 2022 1[$ ⁰]
Kristen V Brown and Kate Mishkin	5[$ ⁰] February 1, 2023 0[$ ⁰] bar, press End and then the right arrow key to see more. [$⁰] is :

Fake websites

Content
Other content-related info	Good source
All links in the "news" section lead to blogs, poorly made websites, and fake news sites(designed to look like real ones), claims to be about science but is clearly inaccurate.	189[$^0]	No
Content is inaccurate, for example, 1475 was shown as 1457, the website having info about every explorer seems unrealistic. Site was developed by teachers to be persuasive.	300[$^0]	No
All links lead to pages in the same website, site description seems illogical and is too persuasive. Sign-up leads to a third-party website. Dog Island is actually used for marketing.	112[$^0]	No
Areas of video slideshow have been blurred to make people think NASA is hiding something, but if they really wanted to, they probably would have done it better.	203[$^0]	No
Image is actually from Greenland, very little content	84[$^0]	No
Barely any content, might be a scam. There was no technology in the jurassic period because humans did not exist back then.	300[$^0]	No
Moderate amount of content, use of fancy words to make things sound scientific when they are probably random made-up words	32[$^0]	Maybe
Website for buying petrol online, apparently to save money. Site information is accurate, and doesn't seem to be a scam. However, many reviews on the Internet say it's a scam.	300[$^0]	No
When searched on the web, all links lead to the same site or are about the octopus tree, which is something totally different. The "tree octopus" is an octopus that lives in trees.	300[$^0]	No
Site is about quitting vaping, which is not that sus. Shows how vaping is bad for you and how quitting will benefit.	18[$^0]	Probably
Poorly made site, about the dangers of "dihydrogen monoxide". Anyone who knows about elements of the periodic table could figure out it is just water (2 ligers).	300[$^0]	No
Ligers are a real thing. I checked a few facts and they were all correct (2~3 sources checked for each)	0[$^0]	Probably
Seems to be based on opinion of democrats/republicans, some graphs are incomplete or show small sections of larger graphs.	189[$^0]	No
News article about how bleach is being sold to benefit health, though it is toxic - this is true according to many websites and a News video	19[$^0]	Probably sus, a way of measuring how sus something is. The greater the number, the less reliable the website.

Summary
Total <175 at least	Rate out of 7 >=5 at least
400[$^0]	0.01
368[$^0]	2.50
237[$^0]	0.30
423[$^0]	0.01
308[$^0]	2.85
440[$^0]	0.01
187[$^0]	3.00
455[$^0]	0.01
530[$^0]	0.01
160[$^0]	5.80
455[$^0]	0.01
70[$^0]	6.57
205[$^0]	0.01
34[$^0]	6.83